Environment & Infrastructure

THE ROAD USER & THE LAW

The Highway Code for Guernsey ("the Highway Code") comprises -

- a. The Official Highway Code issued by the Department for Transport for England and Wales ("the UK Highway Code"), available from the Committee's Bulwer Avenue office, local book stores and online at: www.gov.uk/browse/driving/highway-code-road-safety) and
- b. The Guernsey Code issued by the Committee for the Environment & Infrastructure, published below and available from the Committee's Bulwer Avenue Office, local book stores (with "the UK Highway Code") and online at:
www.gov.gg/drivingtests

All road users should be familiar with both the UK Highway Code and the Guernsey Code as they provide guidance for use of the roads.

Where material differences exist between the UK Highway Code and Guernsey Law these are identified in this document with the Guernsey Code taking precedence when using our roads. The reference to MOT requirements (periodic technical inspections of motor vehicles), vehicle tax, Statutory Off-Road Notification (SORN) and penalty points found in the UK Highway Code are not currently relevant to Guernsey.

The Guernsey Code provides a summary for information purposes of many important parts of Guernsey traffic legislation. However, the Guernsey Code is not an authoritative statement of Guernsey law and reference should be made to the legislative sources if this is required.

Sometimes, contravention of the Code will also be an offence under a provision of Guernsey law but, even if it is not, failure to comply with any of the provisions of the Highway Code (meaning the Guernsey Code or the UK Highway Code) may be taken into account by the Court in deciding liability in any proceedings.

Persons looking to undertake a theory or practical driving test in Guernsey or Alderney need to have read and understood the content of both the UK Highway Code and the Guernsey Code.

Further information for learner drivers & riders preparing for theory or practical driving tests can be found at

www.gov.gg/drivingtests

Similarly, existing full licence holders wishing to drive in the UK should make themselves aware of the requirements for driving in traffic conditions not experienced in Guernsey or Alderney (motorways, tramways, tunnels etc.).

Where reference to the road traffic legislation is made in the Guernsey code (for example "RTO") the name and date of the law or ordinance is listed at the end of this document.

Texts of the legislation can be found at
