Bailiwick Law Enforcement vehicles have been branded up as the force leads this year's Channel Islands Pride event on Saturday.

Detective Constable and Diversity Liaison Officer Kieran Walsh said:

"We are honoured and delighted to be asked to take part in this year's Channel Islands Pride event. The #GuernseyTogether spirit has allowed this community to largely emerge from lockdown restrictions and be able to host Pride. It's that spirit of inclusivity and doing what you can for the good of our community which will see this event happen in a manner that is the envy of the world.

"And it's exactly that spirit that we hope to see continued in all aspects of Bailiwick life, to make people feel valued and welcome no matter who you are or how you identify. Pride is a celebration of gender and sexual orientation – everyone is welcome.

"As a central part of this community, we are very proud to be involved in this wonderful event. One Guernsey Border Agency and one Guernsey Police vehicle will be branded in Pride livery and lead the parade from Candie Gardens to Market Square, where the celebration will continue well into the evening. A big thankyou goes out to our sponsor, Channel Island Loss Adjustors for supporting our involvement in this event.

"We hope to see you there – come over, say hello and get a picture with us and our branded vehicles."
